

GLOTTAL START

Laryngeal science into practice

SUNDAY 9th SEPT 2018, BADEN POWELL HOUSE, LONDON. 10:30 – 17:15

Speakers include:

Professor José R Sañudo
Professor, Department of Anatomy and Human Embryology, Complutense
University of Madrid, Madrid, Spain

Professor Stephen McHanwell
Professor of Anatomical Sciences and Director of Unit for Educational Research Development and Practice,
Newcastle University, Newcastle, UK

Dr. Justin Weir
Consultant Histopathologist, Charing
Cross Hospital, London, UK

Professor Janice Chapman AUA
Singer/Singing Teacher, London, UK

A day of lectures, demonstrations and interactive panel discussions that will appeal to all voice professionals including speech and language therapists, laryngologists and singing teachers. We will focus on laryngeal science and its direct application to practice. Professors Sañudo and McHanwell will update attendees on applied anatomy and physiology. Janice Chapman and her panel will explore auditory and visual clues particularly useful for singing teachers.

Programme includes: The 2018 Van Lawrence Prize Papers with the presentation of the Winner for 2018.

Preceded by the BVA's AGM (9.30am-10.15am, members only)

HOW TO BOOK

Contact: administrator@britishvoiceassociation.org.uk /
0300 123 2773 or visit our website

RATES

Early bird (until Fri 17.8.2018)
Members £90, Non-members £120,
Students £55

Standard rates

Members £110, Non-members
£140, Students £75

VENUE

Baden Powell House,
65 – 67 Queen's Gate, South
Kensington, London SW7 5JS

britishvoiceassociation.org.uk

